Monthly Industry Snapshot

Following a 26.4 percent return in 2000, the NAREIT Equity REIT index remained relatively unchanged through the end of January 2001, posting a positive 1.0 percent for the year (Exhibit 1). In January, the NASDAQ Composite index rebounded from its negative 39.3 percent in 2000 with a positive 12.2 percent return, leading all other broad equity market indicators. Lagging other equity market indicators, the S&P Utilities index lost 9.9 percent in January.

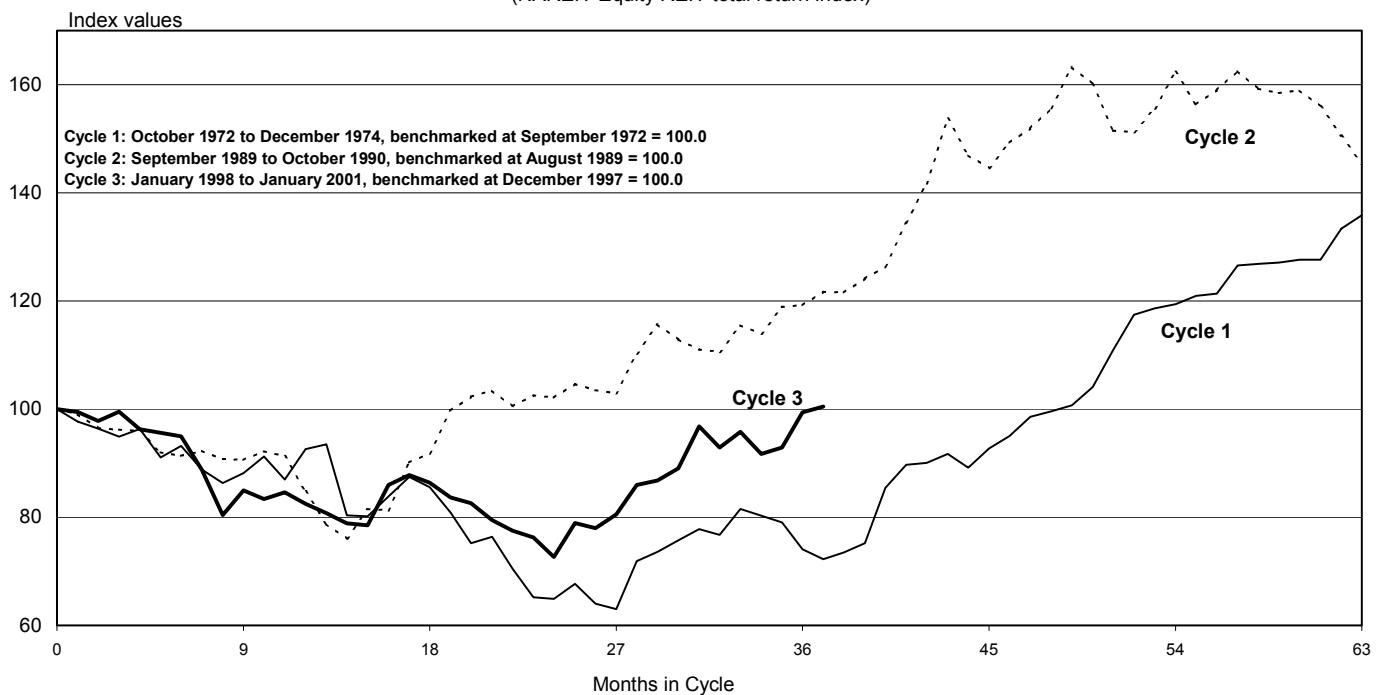

Exhibit 2 shows that the Equity REIT index total return performance of the last 13 months has regained slightly more than the 27.3 percent lost during the last bear market cycle, leveling out at 100.5 at the end of January. On a price only basis, the index has regained 80 percent of the 36.6 percent drop from December 1997 to December 1998 (Exhibit 3).

Health care REITs led all other property sectors with a 13.2 percent return (Exhibit 6). The Specialty sector followed with an 11.0 percent return, driven in part by the strong performance of heavily weighted Pinnacle Holdings, which likely benefited from the NASDAQ Composite's positive 12.2 percent return in January. The Apartment sector, which posted a 35.5 percent total return in 2000 while mortgage interest rates were rising, was weakened by falling rates as a result of the 1 percentage point cut by the Federal Reserve Board in the Federal Funds rate, posting a negative 3.3 percent in January. Benefiting from the interest rate cut, the Mortgage Home Financing sector posted a positive 18.5 percent in January, beating all other sub-index categories. In 2000, the Home Financing sector underperformed the industry by 16.7 percentage points, posting a 9.2 total return to the NAREIT Composite REIT index's 25.9 return for the year. Additionally, it underperformed the Mortgage Sector by 6.8 percentage points.

January was an active month for debt issuance with eight companies raising a total of $2.0 billion in 10 transactions, accounting for more than 27 percent of the total debt raised in 2000 (Exhibit 5). Equity issuance also picked up with five companies raising $521 million in three common share and three preferred share offerings. Property acquisitions also increased in January, totaling $1.7 billion, or $5.1 billion at a quarterly rate (Exhibit 4).

Earnings season is well under way as 83 REITs and publicly traded real estate operating companies (REOCs) have reported their performance for fourth quarter 2000. A preliminary look shows that year-over-year weighted average earnings growth for the industry has decelerated slightly in the fourth quarter to 11.7 percent from 12.2 percent for the comparable period in third quarter 2000. The companies reporting thus far have a total equity market capitalization of $95.7 billion and include equity, mortgage and hybrid REITs, as well as REOCs. Of those companies, 82 percent met or exceeded their consensus earnings estimate, while 18 percent fell short.
